Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

What is the most important thing in case of accident of any kind, that the President of the United States, the Governor of California, or any humble citizen could do, if he were present at the accident? To help save the life of any human being in danger, of course. But on Saturday last Governor Merriam with two traffic officers accompanying him, on his way to Downieville, passed up an accident on the highway in which a motorist was fairly buried in debris at the foot of a 150 bank. He hesitated, he and his immaculate traffic officers for a minute or two, but he did not order the two state officers to lend a helping hand. They waited, the governor and his fashion-plate patrolmen and a Forest Service truck came along, and then the governor's party "let George do it." They drove on to the governor's appointment at Downieville. This is the report, substantially, of James Fisher, who was thrown out of the car as it rolled down the bank, while his companion, Alex Hansen, was pinned inside.

The governor, of course, could not descend that bank and do any good. He is far too advanced in years. But he could have sent those slick patrolmen down and had that man out and up in a jiffy. He did not do it. We would like to comment on this incident properly, but if we did, we know the postmaster would bar this paper from the mails. In Southern California, the governor's home, an organization of some thousands of voters is preparing to recall him in November. They have not yet named the man they will nominate to replace him. But should they name a "desert rat," a drunken sailor from the stews and flop houses of the Embarcardero, or a vermin ridden hobo from any jungle, we will vote for him.

As for the patrolmen, they were under the governor's orders, and the governor was in a hurry. Still we think that these two officers without waiting for His Excellency's nod, should have gone down that bank immediately to find out whether the man in the car was living or dead, and if alive, brought him up to the road.

To save a human life is any man's duty. The great majority of patrolmen, we believe, would have done just that, governor or no governor.

Fisher reported that three cars passed without heeding his call for help. The governor's car did stop, according to Fisher, to find out "what in hell was the matter." State Fire Warden W. F. Sharp returning to Nevada City along the Downieville highway Saturday night, was blinded by lights and his car went over the bank. He crawled up to the road and vainly signaled passing motorists for help. Finally he walked into town, two and a half miles. These two incidents of motorists failing to heed an appeal for help, or rather failing to understand such an appeal, constitute a matter for serious concern. Very few motorists, nowadays will stop to give a total stranger a ride. In numberless instances this kind of generosity has led to murder, robbery or a crash. But to drive unheeding by some one who, seeking help for himself or others in a roadside tragedy is inhuman. Those who signal for a stop should be carefully scrutinized, to see whether or not they are asking help or just a ride.

The Governor was the guest at a reception in Downieville, Saturday night. Sunday he proceeded to Loyalton where he addressed an audience of some 1800 gathered there for a picnic. He talked about what he was going to do in the way of improving the roads in Sierra county. He oozed good-will and applesauce. He said nothing about starting work on a given piece of bad road at any given date. His address so far as any definite promise or concrete proposal was concerned was as barren as a desert. Fortunately he said nothing that anyone is called upon to believe. We know that votes in these mountains are scarce. We know that where the vote treasure is, there is the politician's heart. If we get any road improvements from the state, it will be because of the countless thousands in the city below are clamoring to have them built so that they may use them.

As for the Downieville highway, on which two accidents occurred Saturday, both of which miraculously missed being a fatality, we believe the only way we will ever secure elimination of its hazards is by enlisting the help of Sacramento and the bay cities.

BUDGET LARGER; TAX RATE LOWER

The preliminary budget of Nevada county for expendable appropriations, as it stood on August 2, exceeded the estimated expenditures of last year by $74,386, or about 26 per cent, according to California Taxpayers' association's study of the preliminary budget.

Because of larger subventions from state and federal sources, together with cash balances carried over from last year, it appears the tax levy will be 10 cents less in 1936-37 than it was in 1935-36, the Taxpayers' association stated.

Increases are general in all departments, the association pointed out, stating that increased allowances for old age aid and for roads and bridges will not greatly affect the local tax rate, being mostly offset by state and federal grants.

Proposed expenditures by major purposes of expedniture for 1936-37 and estimated expenditures of last year are shown as follows:

	Estimated 1935-36	Budget Estimate 1936-37
Salaries - wages	$ 97,723	$108,195
Maintenance and operation	124,534	155,425
Capital outlay	68,261	91,274
Unappropriated reserve		10,000
Totals	$290,518	$364,894

Some of the monies to finance the proposed budget come from state aid grants and nontax revenues, estimated by the association at $123,025, which, with unencumbered balances of $137,039 carried over from the previous year, leave a total sum estimated at $145,189, compared with $158,100 last year, to be financed by local property taxpayers.

The unencumbered balances carried over from 1935-36 show an increase of about $95,000, compared with those carried over from 1934-35, part of this increase being deliberate in order to build up cash for a court house addition. Tax requirements and tax rate for 1936-37, compared with 1935-36, are as follows:

1935-36 tax requirement, $158,100; rate $1.40.

1936-37 (preliminary) $145,189; rate $1.30.

Public hearings on the county budget will be held by the board of supervisors prior to the adoption of the budget.

JUDGE TUTTLE ASSIGNED TO MAYHEM CASE IN S. F.

Judge Raglan Tuttle and Mrs. Tuttle are in San Francisco where Judge Tuttle will preside in the Hewitt case in which Dr. Samuel G. Boyd and Dr. Tilton E. Tillman are charged with manhem in the alleged sterilization of a San Francisco girl. It is expected the case will require several weeks for trial. Gerald Beatty Wallace, a native of Nevada City and graduate of the local schools will be associated with the attorneys for Dr. Boyd.

FINDINGS OF INQUIRY FORWARDED TO WASH

A hearing was held at the Tahoe National Forest Service headquarters in Nevada City yesterday forenoon when various parties involved in the auto accident at the entrance to Lake Olympia Wednesday, made statements. The testimony was forwarded to Washington where it will be determined who is at fault and the amount of damages to be paid.

Albert H. Craig ,Brunswick mill man, driving from Nevada City to the Mine Workers Protective League picnic at Lake Olympia, claims he gave the proper hand signal at the required distance when a forest service truck operated by H. L. Buckley collided with him damaging both machines, the drivers escaping injury. Buckley claims he did not see the hand signal nor the turning car.

Miss Jennie Britlan, Miss Alice Randall and brother, Harrison Randall, are enjoying a vacation in the northern part of California and Oregon. They will visit the big trees, ancient caves and go as far as Portland before returning home.

NEVADA COUNTY PEARS AND APPLES HARVESTED

Nevada County pears from many orchards are being trucked to the packing plants at Grass Valley, Chicago Park and Colfax. County Horticultural Commissioner L. G. Lageson is inspecting fruits in the packing sheds of the Pacific Fruit Exchange in Grass Valley and Chicago Park, and states in another day or so the fruit will be coming in in full blast. The Loma Rica and Prisk Brothers orchard located between Nevada City and Grass Valley, are the two largest orchards in the county. About 20 persons are employed in each packing plant. If the weather continues warm the pear harvest will be short but if it turns cool, or rains, it will be prolonged into September.

The Nevada County apple crop is fine this year, nearly all early varieties having been sold, with the first of the later varieties coming in shortly. Due to a wet season they are in fine condition. It is stated the Gravenstines of this section hold up three times better than other localities and apples of this area are considered by many to be the finest in the world in flavor, texture and color. A happy feature of the marketing of the local apples is the fact that many motorists go directly to the orchards for the fruit fresh from the trees.

BRAWL AT PICNIC WEDNESDAY PUTS ONE IN JAIL

Herbert Hassie, late of Pennsylvania, was lodged in the county jail at Nevada City at an early hour on Thursday morning by Sheriff C. J. Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriff William Woods. Lester Hubbard, deputy sheriff and swimming instructor at Lake Olympia, was taken to Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley for treatment, as the aftermath of a rough disturbance at the Miner's Protective League dance at Lake Olympia.

Deputy Sheriff Lester Hubbard attempted to put an unidentified peace disturber who put up a desperate resistance, out of the building at Lake Olympia. Hubbard brought his billie club into action and Massie, a bystander, entered the argument to take the side of the peace disturber when Hubbard tried to quell him also. Eventually the two men overcame the officer and got possession of his club using it on him and also attempting to crash a hardwood chair down on the prostrate officer. Sheriff Tobiassen stated when they had the officer down, Hassie bit Hubbard's fingers to the bone five times and tried to claw his eyes out. scratching his face severely.

Dr. Foster of Grass Valley was called to treat Hubbard. It was thought for a time he had suffered internal injuries from a kick in the stomach. Hassie also had several stitches taken in his scalp for a cut.

Sheriff Tobiassen and deputy took Hubbard to Jones Memorial Hospital and brought Hassie to the county jail. Hubbard was able to leave the hospital yesterday.

It is stated Deputy Sheriff Hubbard has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Hassie and the as yet unidentified peace disturber, whom the officers are on the lookout for.

An unhappy feature of the evening also were the frequent altercations between women. Men also had many arguments as the big throng weaved in and out about the Lake Olympia grounds. Several women allegedly received bloody noses, scratches and bruises, one woman it is stated being sent to the hospital when a beer glass was broken over her head by another woman.

CURVES ELIMINATED ON ROAD IN BEAR VALLEY

Under the direction of Fred Garrison of the Nevada City maintenance division a bull dozer and steam shovel are being used on the Bear Valley road. Several sharp turns are beinb eliminated the road widened in places and the surface graded. When this is completed the road from Nevada City to the Highway 40 junction will be in fine shape.

FARM RECOVERY THEME AT STATE FAIR THIS YEAR

(By RALPH TAYLOR)

Farm recovery— the story of California agriculture on "the road back" to better days and a re-vitalized industry—will be the keynote of California's 1936 State Fair, to be held at Sacramento, September 5-14.

And California farmers, with new confidence and new hopes for the future, will pack the big exposition with the material evidence of agriculture's bid for rehabilitation and a sound, profitable industry.

Nearly $2,000,000 worth of prize livestock, the finest and most comprehensive livestock exhibit in the history of the exposition, will be displayed at the 1936 fair, according to Fred H. Bixby of Long Beach, livestock chairman of the big show.

The county exhibits of California's banner farm counties will feature the choice agricultural and horticultural products of each area —high quality commodities which have made California agriculture famous in markets throughout the world.

And to add zest to competition at the big show, Secretary Charles W. Paine announces that more than $145,000 has been hung up in purses, prizes, awards and trophies, a considerable increase in prize money.

"Essentially, the California State Fair is a farm exposition," it is pointed out by A. B. Miller, president of the fair board, "but agriculture and education go hand in hand, with the result that the fair has become one of the greatest educational gatherings in the country—both for the man from the country and the man from the city.

"The fair is of tremendous value to agriculture, but it is of even greater value in re-awakening and maintaining public appreciation of the fundamental importance of our farming industry to the state as a whole. At a time such as this, when our people, in every walk of life, are fighting for a new foothold and new security, the pageant of California agriculture—its progress and development and its successful bid for recognition in all the markets of the world—is of inestimable value in building confidence and faith in California."

The farmer interested in the latest innovations in modern-day farm machinery and equipment will find the most extensive display of this type in recent years, according to W. A. Kennedy of Pomona, chairman of the machinery and manufacturer's division.

Much new machinery which was held back during the depression years, due to the reduced purchasing power of the farmer and consequent lack of demand, will go on the market for the first time this year, Kennedy said, and will have its first California showing at the fair.

Talking pictures will be used in the farm machinery building to demonstrate every phase of tractor and machinery improvements.

And to add novelty to the farm display, a draft team pulling contest will be held daily at the big exposition—with a new type "dynamometer," scientifically measuring the pulling strength of the various team.

Meetings of many of the major farm organizations, including the Farm Bureau, the Grange, 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers, will be held during the fair, helping to swell attendance from the country districts.

With fair officials predicting an attendance of more than half a million—50,000 more than last year's attendance and an all time record—California's big exposition promises to compete with Illinois and Texas this year for the honor of being "the biggest show in the United States."

PONEMAH COUNCIL SENDS DELEGATE

Mrs. Nettie Gildersleeve will leave Sunday for Red Bluff to attend the Redmens and Pocahontas great council of California to be held there from Sunday until Friday. Mrs. Gildersleeve is Great Second Councillor and is also a candidate for Great Trustee. Sunday evening Mrs. Gildersleeve will attend the reception to the grand officers.

Mrs. Joseph Martin of this city is spending this week in San Francisco visiting relatives.

Former Shift Boss Backs Bigelow to Win

C. A. Danielson, veteran miner, former shift boss in the Champion, and good friend to a great many miners, walked into the Nugget office yesterday and said: "I want you to put this in the paper." According it is in the paper, as follows:

"I have known Dick Bigelow for over twenty five years. He has been a friend to me and many another miner in good times and bad in this community. He has put miners to work who had passed the age limit for working underground. They have gone to work on forest projects, building roads, clearing trails, blasting rocks, felling trees and digging out brush. Out in the sunshine and fresh air many of my friends have taken a new lease of life, because Dick Bigelow gave them a job with the Forest Service. If ever there was a man who has been a friend to the working man in this section, it has been Dick Bigelow. I believe the people, and especially the miners after all the service he has rendered Sierra, Nevada and Placer counties, will send him to the State Senate, where he can continue to serve not only this district but all of California. For 25 years he has been a foursquare friend to miners and mining. Now let the miners show him that they appreciate what he has done for them."

HYDRAULIC ASSOCIATION TO HONOR ENGLEBRIGHT

Representative Harry L. Englebright, author and chief exponent of the legislation under which expenditures for the construction for restraining dams for hydraulic mining will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the California Hydraulic Mining Association at the Bret Harte Inn Saturday night. The dinner will begin at 6:30 o'clock and Mr. Englebright will be the chief speaker though there will be short talks by others.

The committee in charge states that this is not a political meeting in any respect but an expression of appreciation of Mr. Englebright's work in congress for the mining interests.

Reservations will be open to the public and may be made at the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce or at the Bret Harte Inn. The charge is $1.25 a plate.

CITY TAX RATE REMAINS $1.60 PER 100 DOLLARS

The Nevada City council met in special session last evening to fix the tax rate for the fiscal year, July 1, 1936-July 1, 1937. After due consideration of the total assessment of the city and its needs the council found that they would be able to carry on without increasing the tax rate which was $1.60 per hundred dollars last fiscal year and will remain $1.60 for the fiscal year 1936-1937.

The rate was fixed as follows for 1936-1937:

Sewer	.09
Water bond	.16
Fire fund	.16
Library	.16
Street fund	.50
Swimming pool	.11
General	.42
Total	$1.60

The taxable properties assessment is:

Public utilities, (railroad, telephone, P. G. & E.) $100,800.

Lots $178,745.

Realty, $584,080.

Personal property, $155,255.

Total assessment, $1,018,880.

TWO ELDERLY FISHERMEN MEET SUDDEN DEATH

Sudden death came to two Auburn men Wednesday enroute home after a fishing trip. Charles Barker, 77, and Charles Carpenter, 83, elderly fishermen drove off or were driven off the highway (U. S. 40) a half mile from the Tahoe Ukiah junction shortly before noon Wednesday. Carpenter's body has been taken in charge by Deputy Coroner Frances West of Colfax. Barker by Coroner L. R. Jefford of Grass Valley. If no eyewitnesses to the tragedy is found no inquest will be held.

In reconstructing the picture of the accident it is believed that Barker who was driving, took an inside curve on the wrong side of the highway while driving west and then crossed the highway going off the grade at a very rough place. The machine crashed on huge boulders for about fifty or sixty feet. Barker was instantly killed. Carpenter received a badly crushed chest and died at Gold Run, Placer county, while being rushed to Colfax for aid in a Levi Zentner truck driven by J. A Mount. Officer Carl Kitts of the California highway patrol who rushed to the scene of the accident made a thorough examination of the scene. The car will be examined for possible faulty mechanism. Barker was a native of Rockford, Michigan and had lived in California 35 years. Fishing had been his hobby and diversion for many years. His widow is reported seriously ill. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. E. F. Waldo, a school teacher of Auburn.

STATE FAIR AMATEURS CONTEST CONTINUES

Keen competition continued today to mark developments in the California State Fair Amateur Contest, while managers of the state's talent quest warned talented residents of Nevada City that they "should enter at once, in order to avoid the disappointment caused by tardiness."

Preliminary auditions in the state wide talent quest are now in the 4th week at the Strand Theatre in Grass Valley, under the direction of Manager J. E. Keegan. The next audition will be held tomorrow night.

The contest is open to any person over 16 years of age who has never been employed as a professional entertainer, said Mr. Keegan.

Winners in the local auditions will vie with similar winners from scores of other cities in the finals of the statewide contest at the California State Fair, September 5 to 14 in Sacramento, where they will compete for high honors, many valuable prizes, and a chance to embark upon a career in the show world, he said.

Auditions will continue one night weekly for several weeks. The contest is being conducted by the State Fair Board.

"There has never been an amateur contest which offers persons possessing talent as an entertainer the opportunities presented by the State Fair Amateur Contest. A marked degree of talent has been displayed by many of those who have appeared in auditions here, and many of these appear destined to attain stardom in the entertainment world.

"We invite any non-professional person who can either sing or dance, give impersonations, play any musical instrument—particularly the piano, or present a specialty act, to enter the contest. Prizes worth thousands of dollars, as well as a trip to Sacramento, with transportation and expenses paid, await the contest winners." he said.

Fingers Twice Burned

(Contributed)

It is supposed to be true that a child, once burned, will not again put his hand on the stove, that a dog will not twice try to bite a porcupine, and that an elephant never forgets.

This is not always the case, however, with adult humans, as the experience of the people of Alberta province, Canada quite plainly illustrates. Stung once by a fantastically unorthodox scheme of financing government, they came back, with their eyes open, for more. Now they are getting it.

As Premier Aberhart's government belatedly moves to establish "social credit" a year after being elected on the promise to bring about Utopia with this monetary abracadabra, most Albertans are willing to admit they don't expect it to work. They are right. It won't work.

Historians recall that these same people of Alberta in 1912 fell for an equally unworkable scheme. It was the Single Tax, the very same tax monstrosity that theorists are trying to put over in California today.

By 1918 the City of Edmonton, Alberta, saw tax delinquencies mount to $7,000,000, more than half the total levy, and a subsequent tax sale gave the city a vast bulk of properties it didn't want and could do nothing with. So the city amended its charter to repeal the Single Tax feature. The province government had done the same a year earlier. The whole experiment proved quite calamitous.

Today, less than two decades later, the Canadians have naively reached out to burn their fingers again. It would be ironic if California, knowing their experience, should blister its fingers on the same hot stove.

Breathes There A Man

(Contributed)

With one of the hottest presidential election fights in history under way, you'd expect registration figures in California to go soaring to a record total.

And yet there are still probably almost a million voters who are eligible but have not yet registered. The Secretary of State's office estimates that some 3,000,000 are qualified to cast ballots in the primaries on the 25th of this month. For the primaries last May, there were 2,964,336 qualified. And before we had to start re-registering last January, there were 3,140,000 names on the rolls.

It is too late now, of course, for unregistered citizens to participate in the coming primaries, since the deadline is forty days before any election. But those who have not signed up since January 1 have until September 24 to qualify for the big election in November. Perhaps the total will yet reach an all-time high.

Why not register now, you who have not? By just not bothering to do so, a man brands himself as the poorest sort of citizen. The issues being what they are today, one might even ask:

Breathes there a man with soul so dead that he would willingly pass up his right to vote in a presidential election so momentous as this?

W. P. A. HAS SPENT $203,142,900 IN CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.— A Works Progress Administration report showed today a total of $203,142,900 was spent in California under the $4,880,000,000 relief appropriation act of 1935.

The report covered expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936.

Allocations by the President embracing projects approved by Federal authorities but not necessarily under way or completed, totaled $269,719,418.

Actual obligations incurred, or projects for which funds have been expended or are obligated for expenditure, aggregated $252,246,173.

Obligations incurred were for purely WPA work relief projects and those carried out by the Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Treasury departments, the Civilian Conservation Corps, Army Engineers. Resettlement and Veterans' administrations and other agencies.

TO REMAIN AVAILABLE

The $1,425,000,000 relief appropriation act passed by the 74th Congress covers such unexpended balances of the 1935 appropriation "as may be made available by the President", the report said. These funds are to remain available until June 20, 1937, and are to be used at the discretion of the President.

Men and women employed by the California State WPA, exclusive of administrative employees, averaged 152,516 during March, 1936, the report showed. Men workers totaled 120,344 or 78.9 per cent, and women 32,172, or 21.1 per cent.

Average wage rate for the month was $61.99. Average for men was $61.99, for women, $62.02. Average earnings was $52.23. Average earnings of men was $51.85, for women $58.61.

AIRPORT PROJECTS

The WPA also listed 42 airport projects approved for California at a total estimated cost of $2,368,155.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. WHITE IN SACRAMENTO

The sad news has reached Nevada City of the passing of Mrs. Martha White aged 65 years, in Sacramento Wednesday morning. She has been ill about four years. Mrs. White was a native of Nevada City and resided here until about five years ago when she moved to Sacramento to be near her children.

She is survived by six children and six grand children, and a cousin and brother in law. The children are Mrs. Alma Burrows, Mrs. Dorris Snyder and Mr. Alfred Hitchens; all of Sacramento; Mrs. Alda Harris of Oakland and Mrs. Verda Isham of Woodland. Mrs. Robert Stedger of Nevada City is a cousin, and Mr. George Hitchens, merchant of this city is a brother in law.

Mrs. White was loved and esteemed by hosts of friends in Nevada City. She was a member of Neva Rebekah lodge and Laurel Parlor, N. D. G. W., of Nevada City. Funeral services will take place this morning at 10 o'clock in Sacramento.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the chapel of Harry Mauman in Sacramento.

From Aunt Sarah

It certainly has been a long season for icebox desserts. They are so easy to make and so refreshing that it is a pleasure to try new recipes. Ices and sherbets are the favorites. Orange sherbert is so cooling and the ingredients are easy to have on hand.

L936 ORANGE SHERBERT

Part one—One half cup sugar. 2 cups orange juice. 2 tablesspoonsful lemon juice.

Part 2—One half cup sugar. One fourth cup water. Salt. 2 egg whites.

Stir together the ingredients of part one until the sugar is dissolved. Place in the freezing tray and freeze until mushy.

Then boil the sugar and water as given in part 2 to the thread stage. Slowly pour this over the stiffly beaten whites to which the salt has been added and beat until cold. Fold this into the mixture that has been frozen to the mushy stage, return to the tray to finish freezing. Twice during the freezing process transfer to a chilled bowl. and beat thoroughly. Return to tray and complete the freezing.

Mrs. Walter Lotz and two children Netta Carol and Stuart, of Oakland spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kilroy. They left Sunday morning for Lake Tahoe for a three week's vacation.

DICK MARRIOTT WILL ENTER UNIVERSITY OF S. F.

Richard Marriott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marriott will leave the latter part of next week for San Francisco and on August 24 will register in the University of San Francisco as a freshman. He will enter the pre-medical college. Dick graduated from the Nevada City high school with the class of 1935. He was a prominent and popular member of his class, taking part in all its activities, especially basket ball. He with his brother, has operated the Pied Piper on Pine street since he graduated from school. Dick has been an active member of the Boy Scouts and was selected to take the trip east when the delegation from Nevada City went a little over a year ago.

San Francisco de Asis Founded In 1776

While historians generally use October 8, 1776, as the date of the founding of Mission San Francisco de Asis, better known as Mission Dolores, Fr. Zephrin Englehardt, noted mission historian, fixes June 29, 1776, as the day on which this, the sixth of the early Franciscan missionary stations, was established and seemingly proves it by old records as we shall see.

Fr. Englehardt says that divine province appears to have singled out the region around the great inland harbor of northern California for the scene of Indian missionary activity under the patronage of the Seraphic St. Francis. The story of the discovery of San Francisco bay reads like fiction. It first was related by Fr. Francisco Palou, the biographer of Fr. Junipero Serra, who wrote in his diary:

"When, late in 1768, the venerable Fr. Junipero Serra consulted the Inspector General, Don Jose de Galvez, on the first three missions which Galvez had directed him to establish in Upper California, and observed the names of the patron saints that were to be assigned, he said to him: 'Is there then to be no mission for our Father San Francisco?' Don Jose de Galvez replied: 'If San Francisco wants a mission, let him cause his port to be discovered, and it will be placed there'."

Fr. Palou tells of the expedition of Gaspar Portola which, after the founding of Mission San Diego in July, 1769, went north in search of Monterey Bay. Says Fr. Palou:

"The expedition went up; it reached the port of Monterey; it halted and planted a cross there, yet not one of those who went along recognized it, although they made out all the landmarks in the history. They continued forty leagues farther; came to the Port of San Francisco, and at once all recognized it from the conformity with the description which they had brought along. In view of this what else must we say than that our holy Father wanted a mission at this port."

However, the famous bay discovered by Portola was not the Port of San Francisco known to Galvez. It was entirely unknown to the Spaniards In 1595, Sebastian Rodriquez Carmenon, a Portuguese navigator, set sail from Manila under royal Spanish orders to explore the coast of California, and on November 6 of that year he cast anchor in a little bay behind a point of land later called Punta de los Reyes and gave to it the name of Bahia de San Francisco in honor of Saint Francis of Assisi.

Of the present San Francisco bay nothing was known to the world till one hundred and seventy three years later. When the members of the Portola expedition sighted it on October 31, 1769, they believed it to be the bay Cermenon had discovered. Some years later, after a number of explorations had been made on the San Francisco peninsula and through what are now Alameda, Contra Costa and Marin counties, the Spaniards transferred the name San Francisco from the little bay at Point Reyes to the world-renowned body of water that now is San Francisco bay and on its western shore established Mission Dolores.

Monterey Bay having been located in May, 1770, by Portola's second land expedition of which Fr. Serra was a member, Viceroy Carlos Francisco de Croix of Mexico ordered a survey of San Francisco bay region in order to find a site for a mission. Portola had turned military control of California over to Lieutenant Pedro Fages and in March, 1772, Fages and Fr. Crespi left Monterey for San Francisco. After wandering over considerable territory, the party returned to Monterey.

On November 23, 1774, a second exploring force under command of Captain Fernando Rivera y Moncada and accompanied by Fr. Palou set out from Monterey for San Francisco. Ou December 4th the Spaniards camped on the side of a hill at the foot of which ran a stream which formed a lake that extended to the ocean beach, and was called Lake Merced.

"An hour later," says Fr. Englehardt, "Captain Rivers, Fr. Palou and four soldiers went toward the northwest over hills and dales, and with difficulty waded through sand dunes down to the shore. Thence they went northward until, in sight of the now famous Seal Rocks, they were stopped by a steep hill, which is identical with the present Sutro Heights. They ascended and after a while found themselves on the summit of Point Lobos and in full view of the Golden Gate or channel to San Francisco. Observing that the steep declivity was at the very entrance of the channel and that no Spaniard or Christian ever had set foot on its summit, Rivers and Fr. Palou resolved to plant the Standard of the Cross there It was accordingly constructed of strong round timber and raised on the spot where it could be seen from the shore. Thereupon the little party returned to camp.

The expedition retraced its march to Monterey arriving there on December 13, 1774.

That same month, the Viceroy ordered Captain Juan Bautiste de Anza to proceed overland from Sonora, Mexico, to Monterey, there recruit troops and take them and their families to San Francisco to colonize that region and protect the mission it was proposed to found there. Fr. Pedro Font accompanied the party. Fr. Font recorded in his diary that the expedition upon arriving at San Francisco came upon a lovely creek which, because it was the Friday, the feast of Our Lady of Sorrows—Neustra Senora de Los Dololes—was named the Arroyo de los Dolores.

In May, 1776, Lieutenant Jose Joaquin Moraga was ordered to proceed to San Francisco from Monterey with a party of colonists and Fr. Serra sent Fr. Palou and Fr. Cambon with him.

Fr. Englehardt quotes from Fr Palou's diary as follows: "On June 27th the expedition arrived near its destination. The commander ordered camp to be pitched on the bank of a lagoon which Senor Anza had named Senora de los Dolores. On the day after our arrival the commander ordered an enramada (arbor) to be constructed which was to serve as a chapel for celebrating the holy Sacrifice of the Mass. On an altar erected within I celebrated the first holy Mass on June 29th, the feast of the great holy Apostles St. Peter and St. Paul. My companion missionary celebrated holy Mass immediately after, and we continued celebrating holy Mass there every day for an entire month until the camp of soldiers was transferred to a site near the landing place.

"Hence, says Fr. Englehardt, "On June 29, 1776, five days before the Declaration of Independence of the United States, was really the date of the founding of the Mission Dolores or San Francisco de Asis, although other dates are reported."

On July 26th, the troops and colonists removed to a site selected by Colonel Anza and immediately began to build barracks and houses. On July 28th, Fr. Palou celebrated the first holy mass on the military site, "which day, therefore," says Fr. Englehardt, "might be regarded as the date of the founding of the Presidio of San Francisco."

Sailors from the San Carlos, which had arrived from Mexico with supplies, were assigned to help the padres to erect the mission building. The chapel was blessed on October 3rd and on October 9th the ceremony of formally opening the mission was performed.

The missionaries found the Indians in the immediate vicinity very friendly, but they frequently attacked by enemy tribes from what is now Contra Costa and remained away from the mission for long periods.

Fr. Serra arrived unannounced at Mission Dolores on October 1st and remained there until the 10th. On September 14, 1779, Captain Juan Francisco de la Bodega y Cuadra anchored his ship La Favorita in the bay and out of gratitude for having weathered severe storms presented to the mission a beautiful large bronze eugraving of Our Lady of Help which was placed in the mission with due ceremony. On October 28th, Fr. Serra again visited Dolores and viewed the gift of Captain Cuadra with joy. He confirmed sixty nine persons during his stay.

On April 25, 1782, the first stone for the new church was laid and blessed. Building records from 1782 to 1793 are missing, but when Captain George Vancouver, British navigator and writer, visited there in November 1792 he made note of the fact that the missionary establishments had grown to considerable proportions. Fr. Englehardt believes the new mission church, begun by Fr. Palou was dedicated on Sunday, April 3, 1791.

At the mission in 1796 twenty habitations for neophytes and their families were built. During the first half of the last decade of the eighteenth century the mission made great strides in both spiritual and material progress. The number of baptisms rose from 1031 at the end of 1791 to 1861 at the close of 1795. During the same period the annual yield of wheat, barley and corn was 4,000 bushels.

Beginning in 1795, the fathers had considerable trouble with runaway Indians who left the mission because of an epidemic of measles which caused many deaths in 1794 and 1795: At one time 200 Indians disappeared into the interior across San Francisco bay. There were several battles between presidio troops and neighboring tribes.

In 1797 the padres and the civil and military authorities clashed over the question of rights to Rancho del Ray which was taken for the troops necessitating the pasturing of mission stock far down the peninsula.

Building activities were brisk up to 1806 when another epidemic of measles brought death to 236 neophytes in nine months. And then in June and July, 1808, severe earthquakes did severe damage at the presidio. Little is recorded of the years 1810 to 1816 except that in 1810 Fathers Abella and Lucio reported that the interior of the church had been adorned.

The increase of mortality among the San Francisco Indians resulted in the establishment across the bay in Marin county on December 14, 1817, of an asistencia, or missionary ranch having a chapel, bapistry and cemetery, under the patronage of St. Raphael, the Archangle, out of which grew Mission San Rafael.

In 1818 there were only six hundred natives at Dolores while 382 dwelt at San Rafael. Governor Luis Arguello with the approval of Fr. Altimira, who acted without authority, in 1823, planned to discontinue Mission Dolores and Mission San Rafael and move both to a site in what now is Sonoma county and on which later was erected Mission San Francisco Solano at Sonoma. The Franciscan Superiors of the Missions succeeded in defeating the scheme.

Lack of space here prevents any detailed account of the hardships endured by Mission Dolores beginning with the regime ofGovernor Echeandia in 1825 and continuing through secularization up to its confiscation by Governor Figueroa in August 1834. Mission Dolores was among the first of the Franciscan stations to be confiscated. In September, Jose Joaquin Estudillo was appointed commissioner to take over the mission. Two months later he reported that the debts of the mission amounted to $10,089.63.

In 1836, William A. Richardson built the first adobe house on the site of Yerba Buena. This was the beginning of present day San Francisco.

When Governor Pi Pico began to sell the California missions no buyer could be found for Mission Dolores, so impoverished had it become. During the gold rush, Mission Dolores had many unwelcome guests and was all but abandoned. In February, 1849, Fr. Brouillet was authorized to erect a church at San Francisco, Fr. Santillan, the resident missionary, seldom officiating at the mission. He established the church of St. Francis and some of the church goods of Dolores were given to it.

On March 3, 1858, President James Buchanan returned Mission Dolores to the Catholic church.

Mission Dolores today is surrounded by modern buildings and only the small chapel structure with its charming facade remains. Its old paintings, some of the original floor tiles, ancient vestments, original choir loft and interior decorations executed by Indians of long ago make a visit to Dolores well worth while.

Mission Dolores is located on Sixteenth and Dolores streets in San Francisco, three miles from Third and Market streets, and Valencia and Howard street cars will take the mission visitors directly to its doors.

MRS. A. M. CONNER TO PUBLISH BOOK OF POEMS

Mrs. A. Merriam Conner whose poems have been read by thousands will soon publish a book of one hundred of her poems, this decision has been made after much deliberation. Mrs. Conner's readers have been asking for such a book for some time. This book will be hailed with delight by those who have wished for a collection of her poems. The first two hundred and fifty books will go out as subscription volumes. They will be autographed by the author and will sell for $3.00. No reprint will be made of this volume which will be in a fine cloth binding and artistically decorated.

The subscription has already gained some volume and no doubt this edition will soon be sold. This is a splendid tribute to Mrs. Conner's ability as a poet and also to her popularity. Orders for the book can be sent to Nevada City Publishers, care Fred E. Conner, Nevada City.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13—This district is destined to become the center of Federal Housing Administration activities on the Pacific Coast, it was indicated today when plans were formulated for a comprehensive "Own Your Home" program being launched under sponsorship of the Northern California district office.

Cooperating in the program are leading realtors, builders, material dealers, and financial institutions. C. A. West, assistant to the Housing Director in Northern California, is helping map plans for the campaign.

Stressing the ease with which homes may be built or bought under government insured mortgage financing, it was said that the program was launched to combat the current house shortage problem which is menacing development of many rapidly growing communities in the district.

Under the Federal Housing Administration system of insured mortgage financing, it was pointed out that homes may be acquired on the monthly rent-like terms.

"In many instances clear title to a lot is sufficient to start the thrifty investor on his way to home ownership," West declared. "He may start by establishing an equity as small as 20 per cent, after which the government will insure a mortgage for the remaining 80 per cent, at five per cent simple interest, and allow as long as 20 years in which to pay off the loan in equal monthly installments.

"Many thrifty families in this district, and no less than 100,000 throughout the United States, already are acquiring homes of their own under this plan. Many are actually paying less per month than they formerly paid for rent. Within the period stated in the mortgage, whether it be 10, 15 or 20 years, they will receive clear title to their homes without the expense and annoyance of refinancing their loans.

"It is to bring these facts before the great army of potential home owners in Northern California and to acquaint them with the low cost of government cooperation and the mortgage insurance that we have undertaken this 'Dwn Your Home' program.

"It should be made clear that the government lends no money. The function of the Federal Housing Administration is to make possible this most advantageous opportunity for acquiring homes by insuring local lending institutions against loss on home loans. The borrower, in all instances, names the lending agency of his choice and makes formal application through that agency."

West stated that clear title to a lot appraised at $1000 held by a person with regular income and acceptable credit standing is sufficient in most cases, to negotiate a loan of $4000 with which to build a home. Such a residence then could be paid for, under the FHA 20-year plan, on rent like installments of less than $30 a month, to which must be added one-twelfth of the annual taxes and fire insurance premium, since these are paid monthly rather than in a lump sum.

For smaller loans the monthly payments are correspondingly reduced, he said. The maximum which may be borrowed under this plan, for a single dwelling to a four-family apartment structure, is $16,000 on each separate property.

Little Homes

Only a gate but it often spoke
To those who passed on the shady street;
Telling a story of thrift and pride—
This little gateway so trim and neat.

A pathway led to the oaken door—
A pathway bordered by radiant flowers;
And many paused for a moment there,
Forgetting the stress of insistent hours.

Only a house under verdant trees,
With nothing of granduer to awe or command,
But it sheltered gentle, home loving hearts
And filled its place in a far flung land.

For simple homes may be gracious homes
Attuned to the dearest joys of earth;
Fashioned and fitted to our desires,
Who can determine their ultimate worth?

From a humble home, unknown to fame,
Through the opened door and the little gate,
One may come at the call of life
With a gift to the world for which men wait.

Precious indeed are the little homes,
Guard and tend them with loving care;
Dream of them fondly through hours of toil
Whisper "home" in your evening prayer.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

OBSERVATION TRIP

Mr. Leland Smith, grazing inspector with the Tahoe National Forest, in this city returned Saturday from a several day's trip into southern California. He drove from San Bernardino through the valley route and found it very hot. He made an inspection and observation trip of the recreational and camp sites areas, visiting Yosemite, Sequoia, General Grant and several national forest camps.

WEEKLY COMMENT BY Christian Andersen

Roistering, bullyragging, lumberjacketed he men of the woods have been the subject of many woods stories. The antithesis of this we discovered in a peaceful clearing back of the Hoge mine about 6 miles from Nevada City. Here in a peaceful sunbathed clearing of big proportions, we found an up to date sawmill with all of the noises like the zing and the ring of the big blade as it reduced the giant timber monsters to sawdust and siding. There was no roistering, no fighting, just a gang of men doing their job of making lumber piles look tidy and piling the sawdust higher and higher. When the dinner bell sounded all activity ceased in a repressed duck for the mess hall, but it takes more description than I can command to describe the Arbogast lumber mill at Blue Tent. This sawmill in the woods, is no sewing circle these woodsmen are attending. Even with labor saving devices such as one sees there. The big circular saw is the most demanding inanimate thing, huge logs are its fodder and as these are reduced to the least common denominators of boards and heavier timbers they must be taken away immediately, the whole procedure is most interesting and the thing which makes it interesting is that it so suddenly looms before you as you are traveling along an obscure mountain road, The big commodious ranchhouse surrounded by beautiful flowers, shrubbery and spacious lawn, adds a domestic touch to the picture.

SPRING HILL MINE

Robert Plate, well known mining engineer who has been superintendent of the Spring Hill mine for the past four years has severed his connections with that mine and has left for San Francisco. Mr Plate was associated with C. V. Lakenan, owner of the Spring Hill property and D. E. McLaughlin, financial head of the enterprise. Milling at the mine has been suspended and the mine will be placed on a pumping and developing basis. Don Carlos Billick, former mill foreman will be the superintendent in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Legg who took a motor trip into Canada have returned to Nevada City.

THE GHOST GOES WEST SHOWN SUN. AND MON.

Robert Donat, the handsome young English actor who rose to world fame overnight last season when he was brought to Hollywood to play "The Count of Monte Cristo," makes his latest appearance in "The Ghost Goes West," Alexander Korda's gay romantic comedy which comes to the Nevada Teatre Sunday and Monday. Jean Parker and Eugene Pallette head the supporting cast.

Adapted by Robert E. Sherwood from a story in London "Punch" by Eric Keown, "The Ghost Goes West" is the first production to be directed in English by Rene Clair, the famous French director who handled the megaphone on such successes as "Sous Les Toits de Paris," "Le Million" and "A Nous La Liberte."

The story follows the amazing and amusing adventures of a handsome and amiable "spook" who haunts an ancient Scottish castle.

When a wealthy American food merchant named Martin buys the castle from Donald Glourie, the ghost's debt-ridden descendant, and transports it to America stone by stone, the spook gets along. Donat plays the dual role of Donald and the ghost and a series of hilarious situations develop when the ghost suddenly makes his appearance aboard the luxury ship and is mistaken for Donald, who is credited with all his strange and unaccountable antics.

The story reaches a surprise comedy climax when Martin who had decided to use the ghost to publicize his grocery business, re-erects the ludicrously modernized castle in New York, and holds a gala reception to introduce his famous "spook" to the gentlemen of the press.

Jean Parker provides the love interest and Eugene Pallette plays the millionaire. Elsa Lancaster and Patricia Hilliard are also prominently cast.

"The Ghost Goes West" is a London film released through United Artists.

MISS WYANT TO STUDY ARCHAEOLOGY AT U. C.

Miss Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyant, will leave Tuesday for Berkeley to enter the University of California as a freshman. Miss Wyant graduated from the Nevada City high school with the class of 1936. She was very active in the musical affairs of the school, being first violinist in the orchestra. At the university, Miss Wyant will enter the department of archaeology, a rather unusual field for a girl.

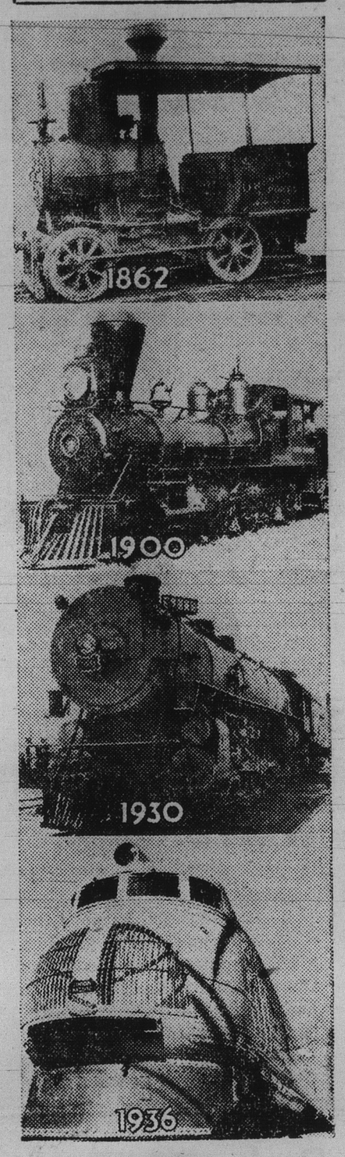
What Will Next 75 Years Bring



OLD PROPERTY TO REOPEN

Claude Stark of San Jose who purchased the old Summit holdings of the Mountaineer Mines Company from the Bender interests was in Nevada City Wednesday to consummate the deal in which the Nevada City Mines Company took a working bond with option to buy of the property.

H. P. Davis, mining engineer of New York will be in charge of operations. This property known as the Live Yankee was operated in the late nineties under the superintendency of Capt. George A. Nihell. At that time excess water caused the closing of the property. The new company plans to put in an electric pump to take care of this situation. Operations for complete reopening will be begun when the mine is cleared of water.

The Stark interests hold a group of claims embracing more than 320 acres having a fine production record. It is planned to immediately erect a headframe and install electric pumps.

The first sprinkle of rain of any consequence took place Sunday night during which time rain fell at intervals following a day of sultriness. In line of his duty as local observer for the United States Weather Bureau, Dispatcher A. H. Behrens from the local forest service office took the reading of the official rain gauge, and to his great surprise the tube recorded 1.58 inches of rain. The ground was dry but nevertheless the rain was in the gauge. Assistant Ranger Ralph Gleason came along and cleared the situation by suggesting that the water in the gauge was precipitated by the newly installed lawn sprinklers which had been watering the lawn near the instrument.

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 13.—Word was received here Monday of the death of Andrew Conrelius Austin which took place at Riverside, Orange county, July 4, being caused by a sudden heart attack.

Deceased formerly resided in this section at Garden Valley where he was engaged in mining operations. He and his wife spent several years here at which time he became widely known and was well liked. While here he became a member of Gravel Range Lodge No. 59 F. & A. M. from which he later transferred to Evergreen Lodge No. 259 F. & A. M. at Riverside. He was working for the state of California, in the Citrus Fruit Experimental Station. He is survived by his wife. Ida E. Austin. Funeral services were held by Evergreen Lodge and interment made at Riverside.

LORD FAUNTLEROY AT THEATRE TONIGHT

Freddie Bartholomew and Dolores Costello Barrymore are co-starred in "Little Lord Faunntleroy," the Selznick International Picture, which comes to the Nevada Theatre tonight.

The first independent production of David O. Selznick, who made such hits as "David Copperfield," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Dinner at Eight," "Viva Villa" and "Anna Karenina," this charming picturization of the world famous Frances Hodgson Burnett story boasts a brilliant supporting cast, including C. Aubrey Smith, Guy Kibbee, Mickey Rooney, Henry Stephenson, E. E. Clive, Una O'Connor, Jackie Searl, Ivan Simpson, Jessie Ralph, Constance Collier and others.

Hugh Walpole, distinguished novelist, who adapted the story to the screen, has adhered faithfully to the original, which is laid in the England and America of the '80's. The chief departure from tradition is in the appearance of Fauntleroy, for Freddie Bartholomew wears neither the long golden curls nor the plush suit associated with the character.

The story follows the familiar adventures of the little American boy who became a nobleman and went to England to live in Dorincourt Castle with his grandfather, the irrascible old Earl, who refuses to recognize the child's adored young mother "Dearest," because his late son had married her against his wishes.

How the little chap's love works a complete transformation in the gruff old fellow is charmingly depicted, and the menace is introduced in the person of a vulgar woman who appears to claim that her son, an unpleasant little brat, is the rightful heir.

After many difficulties, "Little Lord Fauntleroy's" right to the title is securely established however, and the Earl makes the child's happiness complete by bringing "Dearest" to Dorincourt.

Dolores Costello Barrymore returns to the screen as "Dearest"; C. Aubrey Smith is seen as the Earl; Guy Kibbee plays Mr. Hobbs, the jovial grocer; Mickey Rooney is cast as Dick, the bootblack; Henry Stephenson plays the Earl's lawyer, Havisham; and Jackie Searl is seen as the false claimant. Also prominently cast are E. E. Clive, Una O'Connor, Ivan Simpson, Jessie Ralph and Constance Collier.

John Cromwell handled the megaphone and Major O. Bagley, who was responsible for the absolute authenticity of "David Copperfield," again acted as technical adviser. "Little Lord Fauntleroy" is released through United Artists.

DOROTHY WINNEY BRIDE OF MAENARD DEPPISH

Miss Doroty Winney became the bride of Maenard Deppish Wednesday forenoon with Rev. John Patterson of the Seventh Day Adventist church, performing the service.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winney of Nevada City is an attractive young woman who has a host of friends here who wish for her every happiness. The young people will make their home in Nevada City.

He gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired tenderly

"They did more than that," she replied. "Two of them recognized it!"—Christian Science Monitor.

CALIFORNIA TAXPAYERS . . . .

Guard Your Homes!

Cleverly-baited and deceptively-worded the ruinous "SINGLE TAX" will appear as PROPOSITION NUMBER 1 on your November ballot.

"Single Tax" is an exorbitant LAND TAX, deliberately designed to DESTROY HOME AND FARM OWNERSHIP! California voters have conclusively demonstrated at seven elections that they would not KNOWINGLY vote for it.

But the "Single Tax," at this year's election, is flying under false colors, it is DISGUISED as a Sales Tax Repeal Act—a definite, flagrant attempt to trick the voter and bilk the taxpayer!

THIS IS YOUR FIGHT

This is not a political issue. It is a fight for financial self-preservation. It is YOUR CAMPAIGN—the campaign of every home-owner, every farmer, every business man, every renter and every worker!

Single Taxers believe that the private ownership of land is "against natural justice" . . . that ALL LAND SHOULD BELONG TO THE STATE, as it does in Soviet Russia . . . that YOU SHOULD RENT THE HOME YOU NOW OWN!

By the brazen expedient of MAKING TAXES HIGHER THAN THE TAXPAYER CAN PAY, it is planned to CONFISCATE YOUR PROPERTY. The average rate would be $11.25 per $100 the first year—Increasingly higher in succeeding years! Such rates are PLAINLY CONFISCATORY!

Join your local Committee Against the "Single Tax" or write to this Association for further information. . . Guard your homes against tax cranks and social revolution . . . PROTECT CALIFORNIA FROM TAX DISASTER!

SHIFTY ISLAND AT LAST LOCATED

SEATTLE, Aug. 13.—Mysterious and temperamental Bogoslof island, truant of the Bering sea, literally has been "nailed down" by the U. S. Coast and Geodtic Survey.

After many years of uncertainty, during which time mariners have reported the island as being located at midely scattered points, a scientific survey, conducted recently, placed volcanic Bogoslof in an exact position 25 miles north of Umnak island of the Aleutian archipelago.

Bleak Bogoslof, which has engaged in violent volcanic activity in times past has been the bane of cartographers, seeming to change its position. Accurate location of the seldom visited island now has been determined, and if a future survey is made, cartographers will know if Bogoslof is a "shifting" island.

The present position of Bogoslof places it about two miles south and a little west of the position in which it was formerly unofficially charted.

Violent volcanic disturbances have wrecked Bogoslof at least three times—in 1883, 1906 and 1910. There has been no intense activity since 1923.

N. I. D. RECALL ELECTION DATE SET

The recall petition directed against Director Frank H. Newcome of Lincoln, a director of the N. I. D. was checked Tuesday by the Board of the Nevada Irrigation district in session held in Grass Valley. The board finding the recall petition sufficient ordered that an election be held in the division affected on September 17th. The petition nominates Alexander Buck, former director, for the position now held by Newcome.

WHO, ME?

CLAYTON CHATFIELDS TO LIVE IN CALAVERAS COUNTY

Mrs. Clayton Chatfield and son, Norman, of near San Andreas, Calaveras county, were Nevada City visitors this week returning home Friday. Mrs. Chatfield's husband is superintendent of the Buffalo-What-Cheer mine and his two oldest sons, Norman and Earl are working for him. They like the district and stated that although the thermometer registers 110 and 112 at times they will make their home there and send the children to grammar and high schools in San Andreas Mr. Chatfield's brother, Oliver Chatfield and family of Pike City are living in the Chatfield home in this city while they are away. Mr. Oliver Chatfield is employed at the Gracey mine.

NOR. SAN JUAN TO GIVE DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

North San Juan will give another of its popular Saturday night dances in Twamley Memorial hall tomorrow (Saturday) night, with Eddie Meltz' orchestra again delivering the class-A program of music.

These dances given on the second and fourth Saturday nights of each month have become an amusement feature for the people living in a wide territory. They are given under the direction of the San Juan Ridge Improvement League which applies the proceeds to clearing off the indebtedness on the hall. All are cordially invited to attend these dances and bring their lady friends.

MISTLETOE MINE

Mr. L. E. Roberts, who has an option on the 520 acre Mistletoe mine west of Grass Valley will start trucking ore to the Idaho-Maryland custom mill on the 15th of August. The property is on the Rough and Ready road and assays give promise of a fine new producer for the district.

Messrs. Robert and Victor Gates motored to Sacramento Monday. Mr. Robert Gates returned home, but his brother joined another brother, Cedric Gates, of Sacramento. They left by plane for San Francisco where they will visit their aunt, Mrs. M. Fischer, and twin sons, Calvin and Caswell Fischer.

Explanation

By the County Board of Supervisors Stating Their Stand Relative to the Old Age Security Act

Due to the fact that there has been some dissatisfaction among the recipients of Old Age Security, we the members of the Board of Supervisors desire to make the following statement:

First in quoting the law, Under Section 14, entitled "Indirect Payment of Aid" Article 2: "It is expected that all applicants be given ample opportunity to demonstrate their ability to handle their own aid in cash. If they are unable to do so, and their aid is expended without providing such necessities as shelter, food and clothing, thus necessitating county aid, or the charity of friends and neighbors to relieve distress, resort should be had to indirect payment to safeguard the aged person."

During the past and in the future it will be our policy that all applicants receiving aid and any part of said aid being expended improperly, and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Board that there are certain recipients who do not have the ability to properly expend their aid, for the purpose for which it is intended, aid in cash payments will be discontinued and their aid handled by a responsible party, under the direction of the said Board of Supervisors, for the best interests of said recipients.

E. B. DUDLEY,
Chairman of the Board.

Mining Industry Is Helping Recovery

While not expecting to defeat the depression single handed, California mining operators are pointing with pride to continued activity of their industry in the state and predicting the next few months will see mining taking up much of the slack in employment.

As the mining industry is said to have a 70 per cent labor ratio compared to total operating costs, observers believe the increased activity means a large proportion of California unemployed will find work in the mines during the next few months.

Throughout the state old mines are being reopened, newer ones rebuilt and discoveries followed up.

Working on a royalty basis, M. Van Wyck and Maxwell Milton of San Francisco are planning construction of a good dredge to work holdings on the Yuba river. The holdings are reputed to be enormously rich, one claim alone estimated to hold $6,000,000 in gold.

On a huge freak tract north of Table Mountain, operators are working a rare formation in which the gold bearing gravel is on the surface, with no overburden. The major operators are L. Ziehlke and Dr. Raymond Michael of Los Angeles.

Tunneling to connect the Lava Cap and South Banner mines near Nevada City and to improve production of the important ore body is progressing rapidly.

The lessees of the Hoge mine in the same district are reported to have struck a new pay ore body and to be planning increased production.

A lode with values ranging around $6.30 a ton, believed to be a continuation of the Columbus and North Star footwall vein has been discovered in the Carlotta quartz mine near Tuolumne. The installation of new machinery is scheduled for the near future at the Gold Point mine near Downieville.

Gold is not the only ore showing increased activity.

Fifty tons of sulphur daily is being taken out of the sulphur products company leases sixty five miles from Zurich, with large outcroppins available.

Working at capacity, the Walker mine is treating an average of 1,200 tons of copper ore daily.

It is reported an increased number of prospects for cinnabar and molybdenum are being noted in Superior California, but no large strikes have been announced.

If high gold prices and low equipment costs continue to prevail, mine operators declared mining in California, by January, may reach a peak never before surpassed. While few mines of importance have been discovered, dozens of old workings are being reopened weekly, many of them showing pay ore far in excess of expectations—Sacramento Bee.

Thru the Knot Hole

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. AUGUST 14, 1936. No. 38.

Contractor Bob Steger and Son are replacing an old shake roof on the Eddy home on Upper Broad street with new split sugar pine shakes. Bob Senior says he remembers applying the old shake roof more than twenty years ago. A pretty good roof, we would say.

Know those painted sticks you use to prop up your window? Well you can get rid of them by installing Acme Sash Balancers. Work better than weights and cord. Casings need not be removed to install. May be used on thin sash.

A trip through Gold Flat shows that many modest homes have been constructed recently with some building still under process of construction. The outlying districts of Grass Valley show the same activity.

The new buildings erected by Mr. and Mrs. French at Town Talk are being furnished in the popular pine log cabin siding. The sash are of the "swing out" type, fitted with Whitco Adjusters which permit the use of the entire sash opening for ventilation when desired.

AT OUR COUNTRY CLUB?

The snappily dressed golfer was teeing off at the first hole, with about three foursomes waiting for him. His first tremendous swing missed the ball completely. Once more he got in position, and once more he missed the ball. This happened four times. Then turning on the restless crowd of waiting golfers, he remarked: "This is a tough course youv're got here."

After All, Money DOES Make a Difference!

The railroads of the country took the important item of money into consideration when they effected a schedule of freight rates well within the reach of the great American public.

It is far easier to realize rail shipment costs by citation of an example: It costs more to cart four boxes of grapefruit across Manhattan Island than it does at carload rate to ship a box from Florida to New York by rail!

And another item, vastly important in this day and age of hurry and rush—the speed of rail freight trains has been increased 43% in recent years. No wonder thousands of new customers are added yearly to that great army of users of rail service.

In reducing rail freight rates to a minimum the railroads at the same time, built up operating efficiency. Introduction of new inventions for safety, speed and protection are further guarantee of prompt, reliable shipment—new services at lowered costs!

Your Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad offers you that same complete, thorough and sure freight service as featured by the nation's great transportation lines. It will be the pleasure of Narrow Gauge office attaches to give you thorough and accurate information on rates, schedules or any of the details of shipment which have risen in your mind as problematic.

When you ship by rail your worries go to broader shoulders!
